What is CCMA?

For the past eight years the Columbus Carnatic Music Association has been bringing some of the best performing artists from India. CCMA is a member driven volunteer organization with an all volunteer committee. Each year we strive to serve the South

Ananda Shankar

Indian Community in Central Ohio by arranging the best possible music and dance programs. Special programs for children, workshops and unique learning opportunities as well as interactive events are all part of our efforts.

Our goal is both to arrange such events as well as provide experiences with the rich heritage of performing arts in South India. For the children of our community each event is an opportunity to keep alive vital cultural memories.

Additional programs will be scheduled throughout the year.

We anticipate an interesting mix of classical artists from all over South India; vocalists, instrumentalists, dancers and more. In addition, we are planning a music festival with a competition and a concert exclusively for members. For all this we look for support from members and others in our community. Please join and become part of our efforts .

- For Benefactors the average cost for a concert is less than $10 & for Patrons the average cost is about $ 5 per event
- Free recordings of select concerts for Patrons and higher membership levels
- Special events & receptions by invitation
